

The sky was the colour of ripe plums when Sunny first saw them. One. Then

Then many. Flying foxes, sailing out from their roost in the old fig tree

Sunny stood very still and watched. They were so large and so quiet. She

One flew low, close enough that Sunny could see the warm dark fur of

The others followed their own paths — long curved arcs through the air,

The bush was full of quiet. The flying foxes were just shapes now —

Sweet dreams!

See you next time, little one ☐
