

There was a gecko on the bark. Not on top of the bark — on the underside

She tilted her head. The gecko tilted its head. It was very small — small

It watched her with great calm. She wondered what the world looked like

The gecko flicked its tiny tongue. It shifted a little, its toe pads

A gecko found the world a perfectly walkable place in every direction. She

They stayed like that for a long time — one upside-down, one right-way-up —

Sweet dreams!

See you next time, little one ☐

Sonny's Cozy Quokka Bedtime Tales

By Jamie Wigg