

Sunny and the Flying Fox

A Bedtime Story

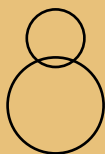

Dream Big, Little One

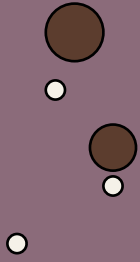

From Sunny's Cozy Bedtime Tales

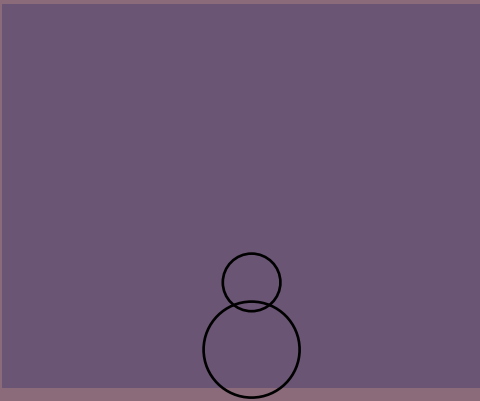

The sky was the colour of ripe plums when Sunny first saw them. One. Then three. Then many. Flying foxes, sailing out from their roost in the old fig tree.

Their wings were wide and dark, and they moved through the air without a sound — no flap, no flutter, just a long, smooth, swooping glide.

She sat down in the soft grass and looked up. The flying foxes were just shapes now, moving silently. She breathed out a long, slow breath. And drifted off.
