

Sunny was sitting in the clearing when he saw it — a butterfly, orange and

Sunny got up and followed
it. Gently. Slowly.
Careful not to startle it

The butterfly seemed unconcerned with Sunny entirely. It drifted

This was enough.
Eventually the butterfly rose high, caught an

He felt lighter, somehow, than when he started. The creek murmured beside

He wondered where the butterfly went. He hoped it was somewhere

Sweet dreams!

See you next time, little one ☐
