

Something was different
about the creek tonight.
As Sunny the quokka

The whole creek was wrapped in it. The rocks, the reeds, the low-

It made the world look farther away than it was,
and closer at the same

She stopped in the middle of the mist and looked up. The moon was up there

She breathed out. The mist curled around her paws like something kind.

And she was asleep before she even realised it.
Goodnight, Sunny.

Sweet dreams!

See you next time, little one ☐
