

The gum trees stood very tall in the moonlight, their trunks pale as High in the branches, a tiny shape unfolded its arms. For a moment it was Sunny gasped, very softly. The little sugar glider sailed through the

Over and over it glided between the trees, catching the soft night

Slowly, slowly, the little glider climbed high into a hollow in the Sunny sat down in the soft grass with a happy sigh. She had never seen

Sweet dreams!

See you next time, little one ☐

Sonny's Cozy Quokka Bedtime Tales

By Jamie Wigg