

The nest was tucked into the low bush. Sunny almost missed it — it was

It was empty. But she could see how it was made. Grasses twisted

She thought about how long it must have taken.

Trip after trip, each

She sat back on her heels and looked at the nest from a little distance.

She sat under the bush for a long time. The empty nest sat above her,

She fell asleep below it.

Goodnight, Sunny.

Goodnight, little nest.

Sweet dreams!

See you next time, little one ☐

Sonny's Cozy Quokka Bedtime Tales

By Jamie Wigg