

The spider was the size of a rice grain. Sunny saw it because a dewdrop

Even in the moonlight, even with its fan folded flat, she could see a

The spider was resting — abdomen fan closed, four of its eight eyes

She held very still. The peacock spider stayed very still. For a long

She thought: the world is so much bigger than it looks, if you know where

Goodnight, Sunny.
Goodnight, peacock spider. Goodnight, little

Sweet dreams!

See you next time, little one ☐

Sonny's Cozy Quokka Bedtime Tales

By Jamie Wigg