

The evening air was cool and still, except near the edge of the

The reeds were singing.
Not a real song. But something that felt like

The reeds were taller than she was. They swayed just a little — back and

The moon was reflected on the still water beyond the reeds. Silver and Sunny thought: everything here is so patient. The water. The reeds. The

The sound filled her all the way up. She closed her eyes. She breathed

Sweet dreams!

See you next time, little one ☐

Sonny's Cozy Quokka Bedtime Tales

By Jamie Wigg